

Let minor errors by the Trojans had much to do with this 14-12 lead.

The Trojans shooting in the second quarter seemed considerably more accurate than in the first quarter. Despite numerous fouls committed by the Trojans, at half-time the team held a slim 29-28 lead.

The Trojans held the lead throughout most of the third quarter. With three minutes remaining in the quarter, Howard Lake tied the game by dropping in a pair of free throws. It then went on to take over the lead. The end of the quarter saw the Trojans trailing 39-44.

The tight Trojan defense held Howard Lake to one point for the beginning first minutes of the fourth quarter, while the Trojans went on to tie the score at 45-45 when Randy Rybak threw a pair of free throws. With 46 seconds left in the fourth quarter, Howard Lake scored by a free throw making the score 48-46—New Prague holding the lead. The Trojans then went on to score four quick points, giving the Trojans a 52-46 victory.

The tight defense and drive of the Trojans in the last quarter appeared to be the turning point of the game. The defense held the opponents to two points in the final quarter while scoring 14 points.

The Trojans will journey to Le Sueur Friday to meet the Le Sueur Saints.

Ptarmigans Rip Polars, 46-0, In Snobowl

(By ALLEN VANASEK)

"The winners emerged victorious again." This sage remark, made by Roy Sticha of the Ptarmigans, aptly states the outcome of the 7th annual Snobowl football game played in Memorial Park on Sunday, Dec. 26 before an estimated 250 hearty fans. Despite the adverse weather conditions, lack of snow and above zero temperature, the Ptarmigans, ably coached by Jack "Snoshoe" Sticha, wore down the undermanned but spirited Polar squad.

As an omen of what was to follow, a pre-game fireworks display was set off by the "Vanderbilt Flash" Tom Borak. However, that was the only fireworks until the second quarter as the staunch Polar defense repelled a number of serious Ptarmigan scoring threats in the scoreless first period. The game's Most Valuable Player, Rick Vanasek, opened the scoring early in the second quarter with the first of his five touchdown passes, this one good for 8 yards to Tom Borak. The point after was not good. Glenn Mickus provided the next touchdown with a 20-yard runback of an intercepted pass. Rick Vanasek's point after pass to Joe Hanzel made the score 13 - 0. The final first half score came on a spectacular 60-yard bomb, Rick Vanasek to Tom Borak. Again the point-after attempt failed and the Ptarmigans held a 19 - 0 halftime advantage.

After listening to a few songs provided by Jerry Minar and his accordion, the players returned to do battle for the second half. The Ptarmigans quickly scored again, this time on a 10-yard pass, Rick Vanasek to Glenn Mickus. Joe Hanzel's reception of Rick Vanasek's point-after pass brought the score to 26 - 0. On a pass play covering 25 yards, Rick Vanasek hit Dave Timmons for another touchdown. The point-after attempt was good on a pass from Rick Vanasek to Pat Sharkey. That ended the third quarter scoring, 33 - 0.

The fourth period scoring began when Rick Vanasek crossed up the Polar defense by running, instead of passing, 6 yards for the score. The point-after attempt failed. The final touchdown, inspired by Ray Schoenecker, came with just five seconds remaining in the game when Rick Vanasek again hit Dave Timmons with a pass good for 2 yards. Dick Zweber caught the point-after toss from Rick Vanasek to make the final score 46 - 0.

The teams then retired to Rock's for the annual post game party. There they handed out the awards for the outstanding game contributions. Jack Sticha tion, 18,000-acre park, between Chaska and Belle Plaine, will be presented to the State Legislature during the 1967 session.

Theodore J. Wirth, whose grandfather designed the Minneapolis park system, said that by the year 2000 "the area will be solid megalopolis." The Twin Cities metropolitan area is expected to have four million residents by then.

Wirth's Billings, Mont., firm designed the park for the State Department of Conservation. He said the cost of purchasing the land and the buildings on it would be almost $4.5 million, an average of $244 an acre.

The remaining $4.4 million would be for development of trails, campsites and other facilities and for staff.

Wirth estimated 1.5 million persons would visit the park annually.

Residents at the meeting, in Chaska High School, argued that loss of the land would cut sharply into the tax basis of the counties, villages and school districts that land would be taken from.

Wirth replied that residents in the area of what is now Grand Teton National Park in Wyoming said the same thing when it was proposed, "but they never had it as good as they do now."

Residents also said Minnesota now has much more park land than most states. Wirth and conservation department representatives agreed, but said Minnesota still does not have enough.
